A Guide to This Summer's New Hamptons Venues

With Memorial Day weekend, the season of shortened Fridays and beach weekends is officially here—and a slew of restaurants, bars, and hotels in the Hamptons are open. This year affairs might be more low-key than in years past, but there are still plenty of glossy new places on the east end. Here's a list of venues for events, lodging, and dining this season:

1. Formerly known as the Maidstone Arms, c/o the Maidstone hotel was recently purchased and renovated by Scandinavian hotel group c/o Hotels. Reopened last Tuesday, the 19-room property has a new restaurant, known as the Living Room, a lounge area furnished with chairs upholstered in Swedish design patterns, and refurbished rooms filled with Scandinavian antiques. The restaurant can be booked for private events, but there are also three cottages, separate from the main site, that are available for meetings and other functions.
